Working Knowledge<sup>CSP</sup> uniquely focuses at the crossroads of federal acquisition management and knowledge management. An underlying theme in the business planning and execution of core acquisition disciplines is the need for and the ability of the Federal acquisition leadership and its workforce to leverage its critical and relevant knowledge about "the business of acquisition" more effectively. The mission—drive better acquisition outcomes.

We focus on helping your multi-dimensional acquisition organization (1) build a shared understanding of its strengths and challenges and (2) agree on priorities for a plan to improve the acquisition management performance of your organization, by helping you to find and access the right knowledge at the right time whether its physical content or the experience and expertise of your people.

We work with you to align your organization to operate strategically within the constantly changing, complex acquisition environment which is federal acquisition, to improve your acquisition policy development and implementation, and to mitigate the risk of workforce turnover and knowledge loss that can cripple your organization's effectiveness and its ability to acquire the products, systems, and services your organization mission requires.

The unique combination of federal acquisition management and knowledge management experience ensures the application of practical knowledge solutions to the complex acquisition challenges confronting a 21st century acquisition organization.
